F L O A T installations

about US

F L O A T Installations was founded in 2011 by Janice Lee Kelly, an architect, artist and photographer with a BFA + B ARCH from Rhode Island School of Design.

While blowing up a simple red balloon, Janice was struck by its translucency, malleability, and, in a flash of inspiration, its potential as a building block for large scale, floating sculptures. After moving to a Salt Marsh on Narragansett Bay in RI, she began making work to interact with the wind, weather, muck and ever-changing tides. Photographing these lively and ephemeral creatures as they flew and floated brought the creative process full circle and she was smitten by this new "art form."

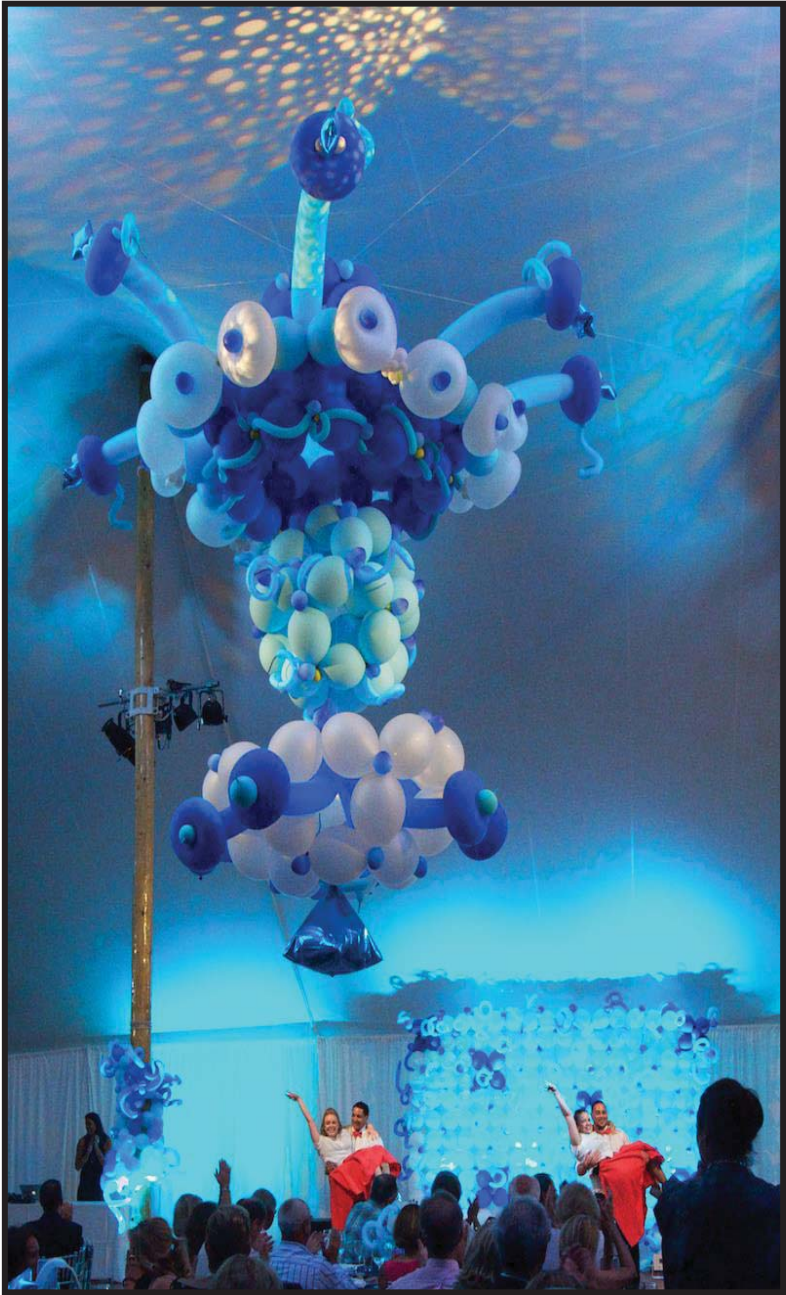

Her work has been exhibited in numerous galleries and her most recent installation was in the mountains of Japan, commissioned by Chugai Pharmaceutical.

As an architect, Janice also saw the potential for these sculptures to create scalable Event Environments. F O A T installations has transformed venues such as Lincoln Center (NYC), Waterfire Providence, Newport Mansions and The Rose Kennedy Greenway (Boston) for clients such as the Peabody Essex Museum, the Big Apple Circus, RISD, Trinity Rep and an Ambassador hosting a Valentine Dinner Dance.

Janice continues working as a visual artist - flying, floating and photographing her ethereal and kinetic sculptures in nature.
