

MOMENT

The moment arrives.
The special moment.
Not dressed up,
Not in a fancy gift box with a glittery bow,
Not delivered by a man in brown shorts,
Not in a heart shaped box smelling of 62% cacao.

The moment when the right feelings and the right persons collide at the exact right moment and everything falls into the right place and time.
The only way to live it is is to fulfill it, follow it at that precise moment, no time to put in on hold.
like the storm-fresh rainbow cannot be postponed or rescheduled or redirected, cannot be recorded or rewound or redrafted.
the moment,
it appears, discreetly, unannounced, most often not recognized except in hindsight.
the moment,
it appears,
to be lived, cherished, relished, and changing the paths of those who drink it in,
or left to die,
unlived, unloved
extinguished,
smothered,
the moment, gone forever.
