IF you're thinking of
 sending a postcard,
don't even bother to write.

Don't send me a picture of someplace where you are
 with a hello-how-are-you public message.

i don't care what city ^{Text} you're in;
 i care what state of mind you're in.

scratch a few lines of
 what you're thinking
 and what you're feeling on a tattered scrap of paper and stuff it in any old envelope.

don't send me a part of the landscape;
 send me part of you.
